Movie box app store

Every device, whether it's a smartphone or a desktop computer, needs apps. Learn more about the Microsoft Store, also known as the Windows App Store, which lets you choose from thousands of available apps you use on your Windows device. Instructions in this article apply to Windows 10 and Windows 8. There are a number of ways to access the Microsoft Store. Once there, start browsing, searching and installing the apps of your choice. To follow the Windows App Store on your PC, select Start and choose Microsoft Store. The Microsoft Store is also available on the web if you prefer to access it that way. The Store uses the user interface introduced in Windows 8, so you'll notice that it's laid out with a visual tile design that makes it clear which apps, games, movies, and other content are available. Browse the store. Bypass the store by swiping your touch screen, scrolling with your mouse wheel, or clicking and dragging the scroll bar at the bottom of the window. Browse around and you'll notice that the store's apps are logically categorized by categories. Some of the categories you'll see are: Games - Including hit titles like Minecraft and Angry Birds.Social - Includes apps that keep you in touch, such as Twitter and Skype.Entertainment - Apps that pass the time like Netflix and Hulu.Photo - Photo editing and managing apps like Instagram and Adobe Photoshop Elements.Music & Video - Apps to listen and watch like Slacker Radio and Movie Maker Pro. To view all other titles in a category, select the category title. By default, the apps are sorted by popularity, to change this, select Show All in the right corner of a category list. You'll be directed to a page that displays all apps in that category, and you select sort criteria from the drop-down lists at the top of the category page. If you're not interested in seeing everything a category has to offer and prefer to see only the apps that are most popular or new, the store will offer custom views that are accessible as you browse the main category view, such as Top Free Apps, Trending, and Collections. Browsing is fun and is a great way to find new apps to try out, but if you have something specific in mind, there's a faster way to get what you want. Type the name of the app or keyword that describes the type of app you want in the Search box on the store's main page, and then press Enter. As you type, the search box automatically suggests apps that match the words you type. If you see what you're looking for in the suggestions, you select them. Once you've found a desired app, download it to your computer to use it. Select an app to see more information about it, the description, see Screenshots and Trailers, and see what other people who downloaded the app also liked. At the bottom of the page, you'll find information about what's new in this version, as well as system requirements, features, and additional information. If you like what see, select Download the app. When installation is complete, both Windows 8 and Windows 10 will add the app to your Home screen. Once you start using Windows apps, make sure you keep updates up-to-date to make sure you get the best performance and features. The Windows App Store automatically checks for updates to your installed apps and alerts you if they are found. If you see a song on the store tile, it means you'll need to download updates. Start the Windows App Store and select the three dots in the upper-right corner of the screen. Select downloads and updates from the menu that appears. The Downloads and Updates screen displays all of your installed apps and the date they were last changed. In this case, modified may mean updated or installed. To check for updates, select Get Updates in the upper-right corner of the screen. The Windows App Store reviews all your apps and downloads all available updates. After downloading, these updates are applied automatically. While many of these apps are designed for use on a touch-screen mobile device, you'll notice that most work great in a desktop environment. Take the time to see what is there, there is an impressive range of games and utilities, many of which do not cost you a thing. There may not be as many apps for Windows 8 and Windows 10 as there are for Android or Apple, but there are hundreds of thousands available. Thanks for letting us know! Tell us why! Read moreNetNewsWireAs Adam has detailed, users of desktop-based readers like NetNewsWire (Mac) or FeedDemon (Windows) have their reasons for sticking to them. NetNewsWire for iPhone syncs with one of these clients, which means you don't read the same items twice. There's a Clippings feature for setting aside items for later (or when you're offline) that's also synced to your desktop, and the interface is simple, and that's the kind of thing. If you're a Google Reader addict, you're already set up with GReader's iPhone beta view. Learn how NetNewsWire brings synced RSS feeds to your iPhoneZenbe ListsFree service Zenbe works as a multi-account mail organizer in its web form, but they're stuck to to-do-style lists for their iPhone app. However, these lists can be edited in any browser and synced to your Zenbe account or published on an iGoogle page. The real advantage, though, is sharing with other Zenbe Lists users. Anyone you share with can then edit and update your list and sync it with you, a kind of handy wiki that isn't really needed for computers. YelpThe iPhone app for business review site Yelp makes good use of your location-aware device to digest the details about nearby restaurants, bars, gas and gas stations, and more. There's also a custom search feature, so you'll always know when you're in the presence of high-quality sushi during your trip and how many reviewers say it's going to cost you.
